UTENSILS FOR YOUR CHILD'S LUNCH

Please remember to send utensils with your child for their lunch. The School Community Council has generously donated spoons from the nutrition fund for the last few months for a few forgetful people. Unfortunately, the forgetfulness has been on the rise. We will no longer continue to supply them.

FINAL VERSION OF TODAY'S SCHOOL WIDE LITERACY STORY!

It was an extraordinarily windy day outside. The students of Caronport Elementary practically blew into the school. They couldn't believe their eyes when they walked in the doors and saw a new dimension! They really noticed the problem as they attempted to enter the classroom, by the time they would sit down the day would start all over again!

They came back again and saw dinosaurs chasing them. The roof of the school was falling off and the tornado was chasing them. Everyone was very scared but 911 couldn't answer. Their pet dogs were with them too. When the wind was so strong it took the children up into the air and they came down on top of a big t-rex jumping on a trampoline. And then a fairy took them back to the school.

Monkeys were everywhere. They swooped up the kids. Swinging on the vines, they took us to the gym. They threw all the stuff out of the equipment room and taught us a game. The game was Monkeys on the Loose. We tried to lasso the monkeys with skipping ropes and hoops. They were too small and fast to catch. Finally we thought of a plan. We led them with bananas to a jungle gym.

We then got the tallest and widest hula hoop we could find to trap the monkeys. We then put a blanket with banana print over them so they cannot see. We will take the trap monkeys outside. All of a sudden a dinosaur tail block the way. We called in a super scientist that could mutate the monkeys so that they had super powers and threw the dinosaur into the tornado. The monkeys flew away with the bananas. Just when we thought everything was taken care of, the tornado then picked up the whole school and carried it all the way to Hawaii!!!!

Once the tornado had stopped we decided to head outside to witness the damage. To our surprise there was a big hula festival taking place on the beach. We noticed a large wave coming in to shore. Riding the wave was a gnarly surfer dude who said "welcome to Hawaii!" Soon a shadow cast over the beach. Everyone looked up as someone shouted "the death star!!!!" As the death star blocked the moon, the tides went crazy. A tsunami wave swept everything up including our school just as the death star fired upon the beach. We knew we were in for a wild ride and had little chance of survival.

Noah, the Jedi, was given a giant fat hamburger laser given to him by surfer dude who had hidden underneath his comb over (he was actually Donald Trump). Noah aimed the giant fat hamburger laser at the tsunami and fired. The lettuce and cheese flew disastrously toward the water. Mustard flew onto the faces of people watching. The hamburger struck the Death Star and turned into bits of candy. As hamburger flew from the sky, the children sang: "It's raining tacos!!" The magic school bus arrived to bring us back to Caronport and to our regular dimension.
